

The FCC cannot limit XM's ability to broadcast traffic and weather. This is a violation of their right to speech. Additionally, blocking this ability limits/prohibits their right to free trade as it is limiting the products they can offer for sponsorship directly related to revenues.

I worked in radio for 1 year selling advertising in the S. FL market and know how important freedom of choice is to the listener. And the ability to reduce the number of commercials by subscribing to XM radio is tremendous not only to S. FL but to the nation.

It is not fair to limit XM's ability to broadcast and not limit or take away a broadcast ability from the other "free" radio stations.

Subscribers pay for XM and have certain expectations of the broadcast(s). The subscribers should be the only party that dictates what is broadcast by their service.
